THE CZAR REPORTED WOUNDED IN THE HAND

Desperate Grand Duke Alleged to Have Attempted to Assassinate Him.

2,000 MUTINEERS MADE PRISONERS AND THE WORST MAY YET COME

Many Thousand Lives Lost in Recent Battle...Financial Panic Now Threatened.

Berlin, Dec. 1.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Vossische Zeitung wires his paper here that one of the grand dukes of the imperial family attempted to assassinate the czar, intending to sacrifice Nicholas rather than tolerate the introduction of a constitutional government.

According to the dispatch the czar was wounded on the hand.

FINANCIAL CRASH IMPENDING

St. Petersburg, Dec. 1.—Fears that a great financial crash is overtaking Russia are increasing and speculators don't know how to stop the continual drain that has been proceeding for the past week or the country's money. There are no doubt banks getting dangerously near the bottom of the ready money supply.

COSSACKS TO BE MOBILIZED

London, Dec. 1.—A message from St. Petersburg says the czar has ordered the mobilization of all Cossacks, numbering four hundred and fifty thousand.

LOSS OF LIFE HEAVY.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 1.—The admiral announces that it has received from Gen. Kaulbars, governor of Odessa, a telegram addressed to him by Vice-Admiral Chonkin at Sebastopol, dated Nov. 29, referring to the battle there, in which at least 5,000 lives were lost.

Gen. Kaulbars wired that he had just received a telegram from Capt. Bergel, chief of Admiral Chonkin's staff, saying that about 4,500 mutineers had surrendered with ten quick guns to the Brest regiment, and that the barracks were occupied by the troops.

Gen. Kaulbars also forwarded an additional dispatch from Admiral Chonkin saying that the barracks in which the mutineers had defended themselves had been occupied by the troops.

Gen. Kaulbars' dispatch says that the mutineers who surrendered, together with the captured from the Otschakoff, number 2,000, the majority of them being reserves who were sent to the barracks at the time of the mutiny.

A torpedo boat which was supposed to have been sunk was found on the shore. It was on fire.

The Otschakoff is floating, but her interior is gutted.

Telegraphic Communication Stopped

New York, Dec. 1.—Officials of the commercial cabinet issued this bulletin today:

"We are advised that the delivery of messages in St. Petersburg has been stopped and communication with Finland is interrupted."

How the Mutineers Lost.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 1.—According to the Slovo the mutineers themselves began the attack at Sebastopol opening fire on the city from ten vessels. The loyal warships and coast artillery replied. The mutinous sailors used rifles and machine guns upon the entrenched infantry.

The fight, the Slovo says, lasted two and a quarter hours. The mutineers made a heroic struggle but the odds were too heavy and the Otschakoff, battered to pieces and on fire, sank with the cruiser Dneiper and transport. The mutinous squadron then surrendered and the mathou-sailors on shore hauled down their flag to the Brest and Illeinstok regiments.

When the battle began the batteries on the north side, supposed to be loyal, instead of firing upon the mutineers joined cause with them and directed their fire on the city and on the south side batteries.

The Brest regiment thereupon stormed the northern batteries with fixed bayonets and the guns were soon turned upon the ships and the barracks of the mutineers.

PICTURE AGENTS HAVE DISAPPEARED

Collected About 200 Photos Here for Enlargement.

MEN COLLECTED ABOUT $260

Many citizens of Paducah are wondering what has become of two young men giving the names A. J. Lewis and E. P. McBride, who stated when they came here that their headquarters were in Chicago. They were agents for the enlargement of pictures and while here stopped at the St. Nicholas hotel, on South Third street. They vanished suddenly on October 20 and left two grips which when opened after the owners disappeared and had been gone a reasonable time to arouse suspicion, were found to contain in the neighborhood of 200 pictures that had been turned over to them to be enlarged.

Since their sudden departure not a word has been received from them. Mr. Ed Thurman, proprietor of the hotel, says that the men were honest with him, as they paid their bill before leaving, but made no statement as to where they were going from this point. He became suspicious of their long absence and people have been telephoning him almost daily the last few weeks wanting to know where the agents were. Finally Mr. Thurman opened the grips left with him, and found all the pictures they had collected for enlargement. He held them awhile and is now returning them to the owners as they call at the hotel for them. He is taking the address of each person so in case the agents should return, and he says he has no idea that they will, he could furnish the names and addresses of every one.

Among the pictures in the grips is one of Police Captain Thomas Potter. He probably does not know it is there thinking it is in the city where the agents stated it would be enlarged.

The men collected, it is said, $1.10 in advance on every photograph. This was the price for enlargement and they were thereby enlarged in pocket-book something like $200. Their statement the hotel clerk stated this morning, was that they represented a Chicago house, but the name of the house nobody seems to know.

The pictures, which are in the grips, are of very old people, families and children, and are probably the only likenesses the relatives or families have. For this reason they are valuable to the interested persons, and Mr. Thurman says he will return every photograph if the owners will call for them.

THE GAS WORKS

ARE TO BE IMPROVED AS SOON AS MATERIAL ARRIVES.

Will Give Paducah One of the Best Systems in the State of Kentucky.

The Paducah Gas and Fuel Co. today announced that it will immediately make decided improvements in the gas plant which will mean the expansion of several thousand dollars and a better gas service than the city has ever had.

The company will install an exhauster which will be the street regulator, another improvement, will make it possible to evenly distribute the gas through the mains causing a steady supply of gas throughout the city. The improvements have been ordered and will be made at once. Gas often bakes when burning because the supply is not steady. Sometimes it is strong and at other times weak, but the improvement will make it the same all the time.

The company will also extend mains at once to the Hanahan division in the West End. It will make other improvements in the way of extension of mains.

THE TRIAL OVER.

So Far As the Public Is Concerned in Merrivether.

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 1.—Except for the announcement of the verdict after it shall have been passed upon by the secretary of the navy, the Merrivether court martial, in so far as the public is concerned, is at an end.

Yesterday was almost wholly given over to the arguments of counsel before the court which is trying Merrivether on charges the most serious of which is manslaughter in connection with the death of Midshipman French.

At the conclusion of Rose's address the court was cleared and consideration of the verdict began.

BROKEN PLANGE

Causes Bad Wreck and Death of Two Trainmen.

WEKESARRE, Pa., Dec. 1.—The Central railroad, of New Jersey, etc., east-bound, was derailed at Stony Point, at 8 o'clock last night, causing a costly wreck.

Engineer Dietrich and Fireman Leibert were killed, and four other trainmen were severely injured.

The engine left the track at a curve, as derailed down an embankment into the Lehigh river, dragging the combination car and day coach with it.

The train remained on the edge of the bank. It is said the wreck was caused by a broken gauge on the wheel of the engine.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

Italian Found Dead in Chicago With Loaded Pistol Near.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Alexander Giuliano, an Italian, was killed early this morning near his home by unknown persons whom the police believe are members of the Mafia. Close by the body was a revolver that had not been discharged and the man's body near the heart was riddled with shots.

With the arrest of five men and one woman the police believe they have cleared up the murder of Guido Alexander, who they claim was shot and killed by Italian murderers early today.

PREPARING FOR CONGRESS.

A Number of Changes Made About the Building.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—Arrangements for the opening of the first session of the 59th congress Monday are practically complete. A number of important and interesting changes have been made at the capital in anticipation of the reassembling of congress. A new and extensive ventilating system has been put in and the improvement is distinctly noticeable. The interior of the rotunda has been restored in such a manner to now look as clean and new as it did half a century ago.

TWO MURDER CASES

On the Docket in Circuit Court for Term Beginning Monday.

The criminal term of McCracken circuit court will begin Monday and will probably be short, the docket having few important cases.

There are 109 cases docketed, mostly nuisance and gaming. There are but two murder cases. They are against H. H. Loving for killing H. A. Rose, set for the 11th of December, and Willis Mount for killing Willis Nutly, set for the seventh of December.

BALFOUR TO RESIGN.

Is the Report Following a Cabinet Meeting Today.

London, Dec. 1.—At the conclusion of a cabinet meeting today a rumor was current that Premier Balfour had decided at once to place his resignation in the hands of King Edward. Up to the present writing the rumor lacks confirmation.

JAIL CAGE WORKING AGAIN.

The cage at the county jail is in good repair again, and the prisoners can now be released from their cells for daily exercise. They had been imprisoned for several days because the cage got hung and would not revolve.

The company will also extend mains at once to the Hanahan division in the West End. It will make other improvements in the way of extension of mains.

Theatrical Notes

Saturday matinee and evening—"Fatty Felix," Comedy.

Harry Beresford Coming.

A noted dramatic writer on one of the large western dailies made use of the following language: "If dyspepsia is your complaint throw pepsi to the dogs—the doctors may say different but take my advice, go see Beresford and he will heal all your complications. His wondrous magnetism will keep you in a state of aggravated hilarity and his drolleries and mimicry will bring you out of the worst fit of blues that ever troubled mankind." As Mr. Beresford will be seen in this city 'ere long in his biggest hit, "The Woman Hater," it goes without saying that an evening of good, pure enjoyment can be anticipated.

Circus Car Passed Through.

The John Robinson combined shows advertising car No. 3 passed through Paducah en route to winter quarters in the east from the south this morning. The car is one of the finest advertising cars on the road, being built on the lines of the big circus wagons with gilded scroll work from one end to the other and finely gilded lettering.

The Isle of Bong Bong.

Some of those who witnessed "The Isle of Bong Bong" at the Kentucky theater yesterday afternoon and last night did not like it with the exception of funny John Ransom, but most of the two large audiences seemed well pleased. The crowds were large both afternoon and night, and even if there had been no one else in the cast, John Ransom would have been the worth of their money. It was Ransom's first appearance in Paducah. He was in the Prince of Pilsen originally, but not here. Jess Dauby was the "Prince" here.

Miss Yorke, the prima donna of the "Isle of Bong Bong," is ill at Detroit, and for that reason the show suffered somewhat. Her part is taken by Miss Harold Depew, who does quite well, and has a bright future in light opera.

There is lots of pretty, odd music in the piece, and the chorus is well trained. The show is no doubt not as good as earlier in the season, when it carried about 74 people, now dwindled to about half. Walter Ware has a good voice but has no opportunity to show it, his only solo being a cockney dialect song, which was over the heads of many. John Hendricks did good work, especially in the Indian serenade. C. R. Hugh, "my friend Sanders," is good. Anna Boyd, gives a vivacious picture of the widow, and her Italian dialect song made a hit. She was several years ago the star of "A Trip to Chinatown." There are no remarkably good voices, but the Isle of Bong Bong is tuneful, full of rippling fun and romping chorus girls, bright dialogue and—John Ransom. It was all worth being thankful for.

Fatty Felix Tomorrow.

There are many strange and funny occurrences taking place daily, but one of the funniest occurrences of the season will be at The Kentucky tomorrow matinee and night, when the "Fatty Felix" company will demonstrate how easy it is to mix business and pleasure. However, the signs of years ago have caused us all to believe that it can't be done. Fatty Felix says it can.

Hans an' Nix.

That delightful musical comedy, "Hans an' Nix" will be here on next Thursday night. The scenery, costumes and stage properties are all new.

The Geisha.

The Laura Millard Opera company, who are on tour this season in a special production of "The Geisha" will be at The Kentucky Monday. The large company supporting Miss Millard is picked from the higher class of musical talent. Miss Laura

Daily Thought.

No matter what you are doing, think your way. Don't go without thinking; think everything out. Don't run without a schedule; have a program and go by it. Think! Think! Think!

Minister to Cuba Herbert G. Squiers has resigned because, it is alleged, he openly favored the annexation of Cuba and the success of Americans in their effort to establish their own government on the Isle of Pines. Minister Squiers was no doubt indiscreet in allowing his personal feelings to run away with him, but he can doubtless find consolation in the fact that there are thousands, if not millions of others, who feel as he does about it. The only future for Cuba worthy of that wonderful and resourceful island, is as a part of the United States. The Cubans in general are a lazy, belligerent people, and from reports cannot long abide a tranquil and industrious existence. Even now there are signs of smoldering pugnacity which is likely to break out at any time and menace the peace and happiness of those who desire to make the best of their advantages and opportunities.

The advice sent out of New York by the legislative committee that is investigating the life insurance companies, to hold on to your policies, is good tho' superfluous to sensible people. The companies are all, and have always been, perfectly solvent. In fact, the enormous amounts used for exorbitant salaries and other grafts without being detected until this late day, shows how stupendous the resources of these companies have been and are. Insurance is now worth more than ever, for the misdirected golden stream that has found its way into the pockets of the grafters will hereafter be applied as intended, to benefit the policy holders.

A number of Kentucky dailies are raising the cry "Kentucky for Kentuckians," and calling attention to the fact that much eastern and other foreign capital is being brought to the state to develop our mines and other resources which have lain idle for many years. While it would perhaps be preferable to have our own people and money develop these industries, something seems to be lacking, and it is better to have the outside capital than none at all. There are many ways in which money can yet be invested—almost innumerable ways—and Kentuckians should get in on the ground floor.

The czar is still a czar, and the incipient revolution has not made much headway. The world is not so much in sympathy with the Russian revolutionists as it was a few months ago, for they seem to tend towards anarchy more than anything else.

A GREAT PHYSIOLOGIST

Once Said That the Way to Keep the Stomach Healthy Is to Exercise It.

But He Did Not Tell How to Make It Healthy.

The muscles of the body can be developed by exercise until their strength has increased manifold, and a proper amount of training each day will accomplish this result, but it is somewhat doubtful whether you can increase the digestive powers of the stomach by eating indigestible food in order to force it to work.

Nature has furnished us all with a perfect set of organs, and if they are not abused they will attend to the business required of them. They need no abnormal strength.

There is a limit to the weight a man can lift, and there is also a limit to what the stomach can do.

The cause of dyspepsia, indigestion and many similar diseases is that the stomach has been exercised too much and it is tired or worn out. Not exercise but rest is what it needs.

To take something into the stomach that will relieve it from its work for a short time—something to digest the food—will give it a rest and allow it time to regain its strength.

The proper aid to the digestive organs is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets which cure dyspepsia, indigestion gas on the stomach and bowels, heartburn, palpitation of the heart, and all stomach diseases.

Rest and invigoration is what the stomach gets when you use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for one grain of the active principle in them is sufficient to digest 3,000 grains of food.

The Tablets increase the flow of gastric juice, and prevent fermentation, acidity and sour eructations.

Do not attempt to starve out dyspepsia. You need all your strength.

The common sense method is to digest the food for the stomach and give it a rest.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do not make the cure, but enable the organs to throw off unhealthy conditions.

Perfect digestion means perfect health, for under these conditions only do the different organs of the body work right and receive the building up material found in pure blood.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a natural remedy and are a specific for stomach troubles. The ablest physicians prescribe them.

The Tablets are pleasant to the taste, and are composed of fruit and vegetable extracts, golden seal and pepson.

At all drug stores—50 cents per package.

PATRICK APPEAL DENIED.

He Must Suffer Death in the Electric Chair For the Murder of Millionaire Rice.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 1.—Albert T. Patrick, now under sentence of death for the murder of millionaire William Rice, has lost his appeal from the recent decision of the court of appeals. The court had denied the motion of Patrick's counsel to amend its judgment so it would show that constitutional questions were involved and form a basis for an appeal to the United States supreme court.

Mr. Williams' counsel may find other grounds upon which to go higher than the court of appeals, the decision yesterday will render difficult their preparation of substantial appeal papers.

The parlor was decorated in native ferns and chrysanthemums. The couple stood under an arch of ferns and chrysanthemums tastefully combined. The ceremony was pronounced by Rev. F. A. Mitchell, of Cadiz. The attendants were Miss Marie Martin, of Paducah, and Miss Mattie Blaine, of Pee Dee. Miss Verna Blaine, of Cadiz, and the bride's niece, Miss Nona, were the flower girls. ### COMPANY MUST KNOW OF THE REBATING

Before It Can Be Adjudged
Guilty Under the Law.

Important Decision of the Appellate
Court on the Rebating
Question.

AFFECTS THE CASES HERE

The court of appeals of Kentucky is in accord with the ruling of Circuit Judge W. M. Reed, of Paducah, in regard to life insurance rebating. Incidentally a decision of the appellate court rendered Wednesday means many thousand dollars to the interstate company, of Indiana, which has suits aggregating over $50,000 against it in various Kentucky counties seeking to collect the $500 penalty prescribed by law for alleged rebating.

Several of these cases were in the Marshall circuit court, and when they were tried a few weeks ago, Judge Reed held that if the company did not know that its agent rebated, it was not liable under the law. The company won the cases.

No appeal was taken, as it was intended to make a test case of the suits in McCracken county. These came up recently before a jury and it was unable to unanimously agree, and the company declined to accept a majority verdict. It was understood that a majority of the jury was in favor of fining the company and its agent, Mike Caldwell, $250 each.

The court of appeals Wednesday decided a similar case, as follows:

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 29.—Rebates made by an agent of an insurance company, without the knowledge or consent of the company, do not lay the company liable for violation of the law against rebates according to a decision handed down by the court of appeals today in the case of the Equitable Life Insurance company against the commonwealth.

The opinion reversing the judgment of the Fulton circuit court was given by Judge Nunan. The Equitable was indicted in Fulton county for giving rebates on insurance policies on the life of Walter Morris. The lower court held the company liable for the acts of their agent. The higher court holds that the statute is good and the agent is liable, but the company is not responsible when it is shown that rebates were allowed without their knowledge or consent.

This settles the law in such cases. The only thing now left for courts to decide is whether or not an insurance company is aware of rebating by its agents.

TRACKS SLID

And Trains Have to Run Slowly
Over Place.

The track used by the Mobile and Ohio and Kentucky Central, between Weston and Fort Jefferson, during the recent heavy rain slid toward the river about three feet caused by the earth giving way. Caution signals are now placed along the track and trains cannot run faster than ten miles an hour between the two stations. Some years ago the Mobile and Ohio tracks caved into the river at this place. The railroad companies now have men walking the tracks both day and night at the bad places, in order to prevent the possibility of an accident.

NOW will you be good?" cried Riegel Vanderpool to DeMille as Monty went down the companionway. The remark was precisely what was needed, for the pent up feelings of the entire company were now poured forth upon the unfortunate young man. Subway Smith was for pinning him to the yardarm, and the denunciation of the others was so decisive that Riegel sought refuge in the chart house. But the atmosphere had been materially cleared, and the leaders of the mutiny were in a position to go into executive session and consider the matter. The women waited on deck while the meeting lasted. They were unanimous in the opinion that the affair had been badly managed.

"They should have offered to stay by the ship provided Monty would let Mr. DeMille manage the crisis," said Miss Valentine. "That would have been a concession, and at the same time it would have put the cruise on an economical basis."

"In other words, you will accept an man's invitation to dinner if he will allow you to order it and invite the other guests," said Peggy, who was quick to defend Monty.

"Well, that would be better than helping to eat up every bit of food he possessed." But Miss Valentine always avoided argument when she could and gave this as a parting thrust before she walked away.

"There must be something more than we know about 'Monty' ex-travagance," said Mrs. Dan. "He isn't the kind of man to squander his last penny without having something left to show for it. There must be method in his madness."

"He has done it for us," said Peggy. "He has devoted himself all along to giving us a good time, and now we are possessed of our gratitude."

Further discussion was prevented by the appearance of the conspiring committee, and the whole company was summoned to hear DeMille's report in chairman.

"We have found a solution of our difficulties," he began. And his manner was so jubilant that every one became hopeful. "It is desperate, Monty has given us the privilege of leaving the yacht in any port where we can take it steamer to New York. Now, no suggestion is that we select the most convenient place for all of us, undoubtedly there is nothing quite so convenient as Boston."

"Monty, you are quite foolish," cried his wife. "Who ever conceived such a ridiculous idea?"

"Captain Perry has his instructions," continued DeMille, turning to the captain. "Are we not acting along the lines marked out by Brewster himself?"

"I will sail for Boston if you say the word," said the thoughtful captain. "But I'm sure to countermand such an order."

"He won't be able to, captain!" cried Subway Smith, who had for some time been eager to join in the conversation. "This is a genuine dyed in the wool mutiny, and we expect to carry out the original plan, which was to put Mr. Brewster in irons until we are safe from all opposition."

"He is my friend, Mr. Smith, and at least it is my duty to protect him from my indignity," said the captain stiffly.

"You make for Boston, my dear captain, and we'll do the rest," said DeMille. "Mr. Brewster can't countermand your orders unless he sees you in person. We'll see to it that he has no chance to talk to you until we are in sight of Boston harbor."

The captain looked doubtful and shook his head as he walked away. At heart he was with the mutineers, and his mind was made up to assist them as long as it was possible to do so without violating his obligations to Brewster. He felt guilty, however, in surreptitiously giving the order to clear for Boston at daybreak. The chief officers were let into the secret, but the sailors were kept in darkness regarding the destination of the flitter.

Montgomery Brewster's guests were immensely pleased with the scheme, although they were dubious about the outcome. Mrs. Dan regretted her hasty comment on the plan and entered into the plot with eagerness. In accordance with plans decided upon by the mutineers, Monty's stateroom door was guarded through the night by two of the men. The next morning as he emerged from his room he was met by Subway Smith and Dan DeMille.

"Good morning," was his greeting. "How's the weather today?"

"Bally," answered DeMille. "By the way, you are going to have breakfast in your room, old man."

Brewster unsuspectingly led the way into his stateroom, the two following.

"What's the mystery?" he demanded. "We've been deputized to do some very nasty work," said Subway as he turned the key in the door. "We are here to tell you what port we have chosen."

"It's awfully good of you to tell me."

"Yes, isn't it? But we have studied on the eldavron treatment of prisoners. We have decided on Boston."

"Is there a Boston on this side of the water?" asked Monty in mild surprise.

"No; there is only one Boston in the universe, so far as we know. It is a large body of intellect surrounded by the rest of the world."

"What are you talking about? You

GOOD HEALTH IS ESSENTIAL

TO EVERY FORM OF USEFULNESS.

Will the sale of Payne's Remedies reach the same astonishing figures in Paducah as in other cities?

This is the question being asked by people who have closely followed the work of Payne in this city, and apparently the answer is being found in the record the remedies are making.

Although it has been several weeks since the preparations were first introduced in Paducah, the public interest is increasing and crowds in which almost every class of citizens is represented visit Smith & Nagel's drug store daily to talk with Payne. What is a Dollar?

Compared With Good Health?

Mrs. Grinnell called and expressed her thanks and said: "For ten years I have been a great sufferer from Catarrh. My sense of smell was gone, I could not rest well at night, and was always tired when I got up in the morning. I had dull, heavy headache. My head was stopped up and the mucus from the head dropped into the throat, and I would cough up great chunks of phlegm.

"I used one bottle of the Payne's New Discovery and I was surprised at the result. My head was cleared at once, my sense of smell was restored as if by magic and my sleep is now sound and refreshing."

Not only do people tell Payne about these cases, but each mail brings written statements of the character to Smith & Nagel's drug store, and it is said that the remedies are becoming as popular throughout the state as they are in this city.

"I was much afflicted with sciatica," writes Ed. C. Nud, of Louisville, Sedgewick Co., Kan., "going about on crutches and suffering a deal of pain I was induced to try Bazzard's Snow Liniment, which relieved me."

"I used three 50¢ bottles. It is the greatest liniment I ever used; have recommended it to a number of persons; all express themselves as being benefited by it. I now walk without crutches, able to perform a great deal of light labor on the farm." 25¢, 50¢ and $1.00 at Alvey & List's.

There are other matters pertaining strictly to educational work which will also be of interest generally to the educators in this district.

Mr. S. J. Billington, superintendent of the McCracken county schools, is on the program today for a response to the address of welcome, and Prof. J. S. Regdale is on the program for this afternoon for an address on "School Management."

CHIEF COLLINS ISSUES ORDERS

To Rigidly Enforce the Anti-Spitting Ordinance.

Tells His Men to Pay Particular Attention to the Crowds of Loungers Near 4th and Broadway.

TWO MORE FINES TODAY

The police are determined to break up the obnoxious habit of spitting on the pavements, and another arrest was made and a fine assessed against a violator of this ordinance this morning.

"I want you men to keep particular watch in the vicinity of Fourth and Broadway," Chief Collins stated this morning to several police, "and arrest everyone seen spitting on the pavement, male or female. We desire to break up the congregation of street car men on that corner, and after several who try to make the pavement a miniature river of tobacco spit have been fined, they will probably desert their old haunts which will tend to break up a nuisance which has been complained of for months and months."

The young man fined this morning was Levi Claxon, who expectorated on the pavement as he claims, unconsciously. He admitted it in police court this morning and was fined $1 and costs.

Officer Thad Terrell has made all the four arrests made for violation of this ordinance and is rapidly becoming known as the "anti-spitting cop." His bent is on Broadway where the offense is most conspicuous.

Grant Howell, colored, who was arrested for a violation of this ordinance yesterday, was fined $1 and costs this morning in police court.

NEW WATERWORKS.

To Be Installed in Smithland—Then Light Plant and Interurban.

Smithland, Ky., Dec. 1.—Harry Eberman and N. W. Gore were here completing arrangements for the installation of a waterworks plant.

The company will be known as the Eberman Water company. The reservoir will be located in the old fort on the Rogers Hill, and from this point water can be forced over the top of any of the buildings in town. Insurance rates will be reduced by the coming of a water system, to such an extent that it will almost equal the cost of the water, to say nothing of the convenience to the users of the water for cooking purposes and watering lawns and gardens.

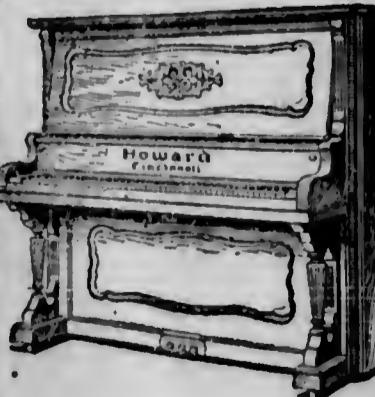

Next to come will be an electric light plant, then the electric trolley line from Paducah to Marion, taking in Smithland.

Passengers On Falls of Rough Road Perched On Seats to Escape the Flood

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 1.—With the water deep enough in the cars to compel the passengers to take to the backs of the seats, and with a raging torrent around them, the passengers on a train on the Falls of Rough branch of the Henderson route, spent from 8:30 until 4 o'clock in the morning about as uncomfortably as could well be imagined. Shortly after leaving Irvington a tremendous rain-storm broke. The rain fell in such torrents that before going many miles water began to flow over the tracks, and rose so high that the engineer refused to proceed further with the train. After coming to a stop the water rose to the floor of the coaches and to a depth of several inches in the rain. About 4 o'clock in the morning the rain ceased, and an hour afterward the train started forward, only to be stopped again a short distance ahead by a high tre-

the being washed out. The train then backed into Irvington, after stopping every few hundred yards to clear away logs and debris which had washed upon the track. It was intensely cold, as the fires were out. The women passengers suffered terribly.
